I'm a skilled Web Developer with 2 years of experience at egghead.io, specializing in designing and building landing pages using Next.js, Tailwindcss, and Sanity.io. I've improved website performance and user experience by fixing coding issues and interviewing users. As a Production Engineer with 4 years of experience, I've managed launch events, produced engaging social media posts, and advised developers of varying experience levels on learning paths and egghead.io resources, showcasing my strong communication skills. I'm dedicated to delivering high-quality results and customer satisfaction.
